STAT

1. has asked that we provide this study to Senator Humphrey. Because this subject is currently a matter of some contention within the Executive Branch, and the memo itself is speculative, I discussed its release with Paul Walsh.

2. Paul told me the study already had drawn some criticism from the Secretary of Agriculture and is by no means a completely agreed viewpoint even within the DDI. While we do not object to its release to the Senator, Paul has asked that the copy delivered to his office note in writing that this is a highly speculative piece of work, published as a means of contributing to an important but highly complex problem. It does not represent an Agency position; and should not be attributed.
